Our interactive courses introduce you to a range of standards and practices which can be incorporated into everyday work. They complement existing customer care and disability equality training.

Offered as half-day courses for up to 15 people, they can be tailored to meet your needs at all levels within your organisation.

This is a low-cost solution to ensuring that all your staff understand the legal, moral and business case for embedding accessible information practice in your organisation.

Courses available

- Raising Awareness
- Is It Accessible?
